

The Best Resources for New ESL Teachers

By: Kiki Judith

No Certificate? No Problem.

I-to-I TEFL

I'd highly recommend I-to-I for anyone looking to save some money.

Let's TEFL*

While Let's TEFL might be a little more expensive, it comes with everything you could possibly need to be a successful tutor.

Premier TEFL*

Take this TEFL skills test and sign up to get 15% off your TEFL course purchase!

Behind the Scenes

Grammarly*

This is the MOST helpful tool for all of your formal writing and review assignments with students.

Trello

This is my favorite platform to use to keep track of all of my lesson materials. It's super user friendly, too!

The Tech

For Videochatting: Skype, Whereby, or Zoom

If wherever you're teaching doesn't have their own videochatting platforms, these are the ones to try.

For Sound:

Use anything but earbuds! They look unprofessional.

Lesson Creation

For Design: Prezi & Canva

A package of information assembled by a company to provide basic information about itself to reporters.

For PowerPoints: SlidesGo

A package of information assembled by a company to provide basic information about itself to reporters.

Content Ideas

BBC Learning English

There are free resources of all kinds for every English level and age!

The New York Times Learning Network

Find the best free ideas for young adults here with articles and picture descriptions galore.

ThoughtCo

This one is different because it provides free resources for both students and teachers.
